[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO NOVEMBER [illegible].

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—In the Senate, Chandler offered a resolution that when hostilities shall have commenced between England and Abyssinia, it is the determination of the United States to maintain strict and impartial neutrality. Chandler said the resolution was an exact copy of England's proclamation of neutrality in 1861, applied to the case of our rebellion.

Morrill introduced a bill requiring the Secretary of the Treasury, after July 1st, 1869, to redeem greenbacks in gold. Section [illegible] provides that after the June and July interest has been paid, the Secretary is required to sell all the gold over seventy-five millions remaining in the treasury in such manner as the best public interest demands. The other sections require the National Banks to redeem their notes in coin after July 1st, 1869. Morrill said he would press the bill at an early day. The Senate soon after adjourned. The House was not in session.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The President's message was read to the Cabinet to-day. All the members were present.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Mallory, of Oregon, intends to offer a bill providing [illegible] for Congressmen in all the States.

The Herald's special says that a strict count [illegible] that on the most favorable [illegible] only [illegible] votes can be relied upon in favor of impeachment. Of these, several are said to be doubtful. [illegible] the tone of the President's message [illegible] many [illegible] cluded in favor of impeachment will [illegible].

A [illegible] in favor of the withdrawal of all the national bank circulation, and the issue of greenbacks instead.

Admiral Stout died at [illegible], aged 67.

The Senate to-day confirmed Horace Greeley as Minister to Austria, A. C. Hunt as Governor of Colorado, and Horace Capron as Commissioner of Agriculture.

Fenian [illegible].

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The funeral procession in honor of the Fenians executed at Manchester, [illegible] day. It was a most imposing [illegible]. Five [illegible] Irishmen were in [illegible] and five [illegible] a coffin were with the procession, which halted at Union Square and [illegible] were [illegible]. Kennedy [illegible] a police escort on the [illegible] that the demonstration was in [illegible] of men who [illegible].

A [illegible] riot occurred at East New York on Wednesday. Some drunken [illegible] forced their way into a [illegible] where a party was being held and [illegible], they were not invited. A row occurred and several were injured.

Over 250,000 emigrants arrived at this port, (New York) during the year.

Hunnicutt [illegible].

[illegible], Nov. 30.—Hunnicutt, editor of the New Nation, indicted for [illegible] speech, has been admitted to bail. His bonds are $50,000. He is to appear at Charles City County Court for trial after the adjournment of the Convention, of which he is a member.

[illegible]

[illegible], Nov. 29.—[illegible] died here to-day; aged 79.

[illegible], Nov. 29.—A [illegible] bark [illegible] 180 emigrants under the care of the State Immigration Board. They were warmly [illegible] by their [illegible] and the citizens generally.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29.—Gen. Hancock has [illegible].

West India.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The [illegible] has [illegible] news from St. Domingo to the 20th of November. The rebel General [illegible] was captured by General [illegible] at the head of [illegible], and Cabral were followed.

[illegible] ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—La France, a [illegible], has a long article on the subject of the conference for the settlement of the Roman question. The writer says it will be impossible for the [illegible] to maintain the [illegible] of France. [illegible] that several [illegible] have been [illegible]. The Turks and Greeks [illegible] both [illegible].

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The evacuation of the Roman territory by the French [illegible] still [illegible]. All the troops will have been [illegible] by [illegible].

[illegible], Nov. 29.—In the [illegible] the [illegible] a plea for an income tax at the rate of a penny per pound to endure for one year, to pay the expenses of the Abyssinian war.

The Seward [illegible] at an early day.

In reply to a question regarding the small island between Great Britain and the United States, the [illegible] stated that the Government had [illegible] with the Oregon line for a year at least. [illegible] of the [illegible] lines were [illegible], but the [illegible] could not be [illegible] settled. [illegible] with the United States on the subject are still [illegible].

It now [illegible] that the statement that it will be impossible for the proposed conference to [illegible] was not the [illegible] of La France, but of a [illegible] journal, and [illegible] good authority on diplomatic [illegible].

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 29.—While the steamer [illegible] was leaving port [illegible] one of her boilers burst, with a loud report distinctly felt throughout the city. Thirty-three persons were killed and many others injured. The ship was destroyed.

[illegible], Nov. 29.—The [illegible] has an [illegible] on the subject of the conference for the [illegible] of the Roman question. It says that with the exception of Austria not one of the powers of Europe has [illegible] the invitation to send representatives to the [illegible]. The other powers each, like [illegible], [illegible] evasive [illegible].

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The Golden City sailed for Panama this day with a large number of passengers, the mails and $1,181,665 96.

About 5 o'clock a fire occurred in an old building on the south side of Jackson near Jones street, the property of John Shirly. The lower story was used as a [illegible] shop; the upper one contained a family. The furniture belonging to the family was damaged about $[illegible]. No insurance.

At 9:45 P. M. another fire occurred in a two story frame building on Anthony street, near [illegible], occupied by Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Church who keep [illegible]. The house was nearly destroyed. Loss $2,000. Insured for $1,500 in the Builders' Insurance Company.

The members of the paid Fire Department will celebrate their first anniversary, Thursday [illegible] December 5th, by a grand dinner.

For some time parties have been contending for the possession of a portion of land at the corner of Hayes and Polk streets, near Market. The ownership of the lot is claimed by A. D. Lunderback, who has several [illegible] occupying houses on the track. Learning that [illegible] Hayes claims a right to a portion of a part is the cause of the trouble. Several houses have been put up and demolished. Lunderback [illegible] one to be erected recently and on going to the lot last night he found a man named Jno. Butler engaged with an ax destroying the [illegible]. He [illegible] with Butler and ordered him to [illegible], when he pulled up a post and threw it at Lunderback, hitting him in the breast then following him with an ax striking at him desperately and swearing he would kill him. Lunderback escaped and [illegible] the arrest of Butler charging him with an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder. He was held for $5,000.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, Nov. 30.—The naval authorities and the Colonial Government have offered to subsidize the British steamer Isabel to run as an opposition boat between Victoria and San Francisco, carrying the mails, and the merchants pledge themselves to ship freight by no other line. This step has been taken in consequence of the action of Holladay and Brenham in withdrawing the California from the route. The subsidy is $750 per trip.

THE AMERICAN L. L. Ds.—In its university intelligence, under date of Oct. 12th, the London Times says:

At a special congregation this day, the Right Reverends C. P. McIlvaine, Bishop of Ohio; H. J. Whitehouse, Bishop of Illinois; T. Atkinson, Bishop of North Carolina; H. W. Lee, Bishop of Iowa, H. C. Lay, Missionary Bishop to Arkansas and the Indians; C. T. Quintard, Bishop of Tennessee, and J. B. Kerfoot, Bishop of Pittsburg, were admitted to the honorary degree of L. L. D. Graces had passed the Senate for conferring this degree on all the American Bishops who attended the recent conference at Lambeth, but only seven found it convenient to receive the degree to-day. The State House was well filled considering the early period of the term, and the Bishops who are grand looking men, worthy of their country, were heartily cheered, both by graduates and undergraduates, and seemed entertained by being greeted by the latter (in allusion to their doctor's robes) as the "red coated prairie men."

The T. B. Munson, of Virginia, who is lately [illegible], was widely known, not only as the owner of Munson's Hill, where the rebels held McClellan at bay for six weeks by wooden guns, but also as one of the prominent Virginians who voted for Lincoln in 1860, though notified at the time that it would be at the risk of his life if he did so.

Views of Th[illegible] on the Past and Present of Our Gov[illegible].

The Philadelphia Press gives a lengthy statement of Thaddeus Stevens' views on the political situation in a letter addressed to Dr. Pfeiffer. He says:

"Before the Constitution was amended I could not agree with some of my learned friends that Congress could interfere with State laws relative to the elective franchise in the United States. The circumstance of slavery [illegible], while it was submitted, to prevent it. After the amendment abolishing slavery I still doubted and proposed a constitutional remedy on the 5th day of December 1865, in the following words: 'All national * * * laws shall be equally applicable to every citizen, and no discrimination shall be made on account of race and color.' Since the adoption of the fourteenth amendment, however, I have no doubt of our full power to regulate the elective franchise, so far as it regards the whole nation, in every State of the Union, which, when tried, I hope will be so formed as to be beneficial to the nation, just to every citizen, and carry out the great design of the framers of the Government [illegible]

MONDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 2 1867

President Lincoln on Reconstruction.

The testimony given by General Grant before the Judiciary Committee, sitting for the purpose of collecting testimony in regard to impeachment, revives to some extent the discussion as to whether Mr Johnson has followed the plan of reconstruction proposed by President Lincoln This discussion is of course confined to the Copperheads, for every man who supported Lincoln and Johnson in 1864 knows perfectly well that the latter is not carrying out the policy of his predecessor. The testimony of General Grant to which reference has been made, is also conclusive on this point, though the Copperheads are endeavoring to distort it in such a way as to sustain the recreancy and usurpations of Johnson. In point of fact, only one observation is needed to settle this whole question That is If Johnson is carrying out the policy inaugurated by Lincoln, why did those who are now insisting that the measures of the two Presidents are identical, assail that policy when Lincoln proposed it, and become its champion within six months after Johnson [illegible] to the Presidency? Their own action conclusively shows that Johnson has reversed the policy of his predecessor.

But what is this testimony of Gen. Grant's which is now paraded as proof that Johnson has followed the policy originated by Lincoln? The General alleges that Johnson's act creating Provisional Governors in the rebel States was identical with that decided on by President Lincoln before his murder. We accept this statement as strictly true The Union party accepts it That party never took issue with Johnson on this point. It did not oppose the appointment of Provisional Governors It was [illegible] with this as a temporary measure. And right here comes in General Grant's testimony [illegible] "He understood this (Johnson's policy [illegible]) to be only temporary and to last till the meeting of Congress" That is the way in which the whole country understood it. During the first six months of his [illegible], then, Johnson [illegible] that the course he was taking was only an experiment." It could be abandoned if [illegible]. But soon he [illegible] the [illegible], and to put the [illegible] of [illegible] in the hands of the [illegible] of the country who had but just been [illegible] after a frightful [illegible]. Having given this close control in all the rebel States and having so managed it that they could set up State governments to their liking, he [illegible] that his and their work was perfect, that it was [illegible], and that Congress had no further [illegible] over the subject of [illegible]. What he had called at first an "experiment" he now [illegible] was a finality [illegible] at the [illegible] he had said [illegible], he now [illegible] had become and could not be [illegible]. A [illegible] as General Grant says and as [illegible] had been prepared with the [illegible] it was to last only till the meeting of Congress, was now announced as a [illegible], as a final settlement, and the authority of Congress in the premises was totally [illegible]. At this point the rupture took place between the Union party and Andrew Johnson That party was disposed to think with General Grant, that Johnson's plan would do "for [illegible]," or until a more satisfactory and [illegible] method of [illegible] could be devised and adopted; but it [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] his action in giving up [illegible] to the control of the worst [illegible], in subjecting the loyal [illegible] to their domination, in insisting that this arrangement was final, that its legality must not be questioned, and that Congress and the people must [illegible] what he and his pardoned followers had done, without question or hesitation.

The first departure of Johnson from Lincoln's plan was in [illegible] the work of reconstruction [illegible] in the hands of rebels. The next departure was in [illegible] the agency and power of Congress in [illegible] that the work was in the [illegible] of the Executive alone, and in [illegible] that what he had done could not be [illegible], or in any way disturbed by [illegible] of the Government. President Lincoln was [illegible] in insisting that [illegible] be the [illegible] of any plan He [illegible] to exclude certain [illegible] of [illegible] from voting and holding office In his annual message of December, 1863, that "there must be a test, so as to build only from the sound." In his proclamation of July 8th, 1864, he expressed himself "fully satisfied with and ready to give Executive aid and [illegible] a plan proposed by Congress [illegible] the [illegible] of the present Congress, viz: The disfranchisement and [illegible] from office of leading rebels, the guarantee of the rights of freedom to the blacks, and the prohibition of the payment of any part of the rebel debt. His [illegible] expressed in his own words, was that "an attempt to guarantee a republican form of government, constructed from the very [illegible] it was to be [illegible], was simply absurd." On this point his declarations and his acts were [illegible] and consistent. He was less demonstrative than Johnson, but he never "swung around [illegible]." He entrusted none but Union men with office, and made Union men the sole depositaries of political power. He did not nourish vindictive feelings toward the rebels as Johnson did or [illegible] to do, but his sole trust was in men of approved loyalty and patriotism. He did not declare in Johnson's words that "traitors should take back seats," nor did he, as Johnson has done, put rebels in front seats. The acts of the two Presidents differ in every respect as widely as their characters Lincoln was not a man to rant and rave about "making treason odious," about compelling "rebels to take back seats," about "impoverishing them and breaking up their social power," about putting them to the rack, grinding their bones, burying their [illegible] and giving their ashes to the winds, nor was he a man to go back from his own words, [illegible] after, and put rebels in power over the brave Union men of the South, white [illegible], who had struggled with such desperate resolution and [illegible] against the country's traitors [illegible]. No man can mention an instance where President Lincoln appointed a rebel to office, no man ever saw him surrounded by rebels and secessionists as confidential advisers He honored and trusted the only faithful friends of the Union

Thus it is clear that President Lincoln never intended to re-establish the rebels in power in the South. In this, his policy differed from that which has been followed by Johnson. Equally clear is it that Mr Lincoln recognized the paramount authority of Congress over the whole subject of reconstruction, and that he did not have any "plan" of his own which he was determined to enforce at every hazard against the will of Congress and the people who had saved the country In this his policy was exactly the reverse of that which has been pursued by his successor

In his first annual message he touched questions bearing upon the subject of reconstruction by recommending to Congress, as possessed of powers "equal to the anomalous occasion," the establishment of Courts of justice in such portions of the insurgent States as might be under control of the Government. He expressed himself as "unwilling to go beyond the pressure of necessity in the exercise of unusual power," and therefore made this and similar recommendations to Congress. In direct opposition to this carefully considered action, has been the headlong, usurpative policy of Andrew Johnson

Whatever President Lincoln did in restoring the regular course of Government and law in the insurgent territory he always regarded as a temporary, subordinate arrangement, until it should receive the sanction of Congress His action was merely initiatory, and he always treated the proceedings which had been commenced as preliminary, requiring the approval of Congress before the new State governments could claim to be legitimate and come into their proper relations with the Union In a letter to General Banks, in regard to Louisiana, the President said "If Louisiana sends members to Congress, their admission to their seats will depend, as you know, upon the respective houses of Congress, and not upon the Executive" And in his last public address, alluding to his message of 1863, he said "I distinctly protested that the Executive had no right to say when or whether members should be admitted to seats in Congress from such States" Could there be a wider difference between two things than there is between this policy and that which has been so egotistically presented, coarsely advocated and obstinately adhered to by Andrew Johnson?

In his message of 1863, President Lincoln remarked that "the objection to a premature presentation of a plan by the National Executive consists in the danger of committals on points which could be more safely left to further developments" These words attest Mr Lincoln's remarkable foresight, and show that he was possessed of a sagacity which his successor has never been able to reach "Saying that reconstruction will be accepted if presented in a specified way," said Mr Lincoln, "it is not said that it will never be accepted in any other way" How different again from the policy and character of Johnson! Mr Johnson presents his plan and says it must be accepted Mr Lincoln acknowledged that neither the entire wisdom of the nation nor the whole constitutional power of the Government was embodied in himself Mr Johnson claims to be wiser than the aggregated wisdom of the nation, and the sole depositary of political power

On the evening of April 11th, 1865, but three days before his assassination, President Lincoln in a public address, discussing the subject of reconstruction, said that the "whole case was so new and unprecedented that no exclusive and inflexible plan could be safely prescribed Such exclusive and inflexible plan would surely become a new entanglement" Here again are words pregnant with the deepest wisdom. They show conclusively that Mr. Lincoln had no "inflexible plan," and clearly indicate the manner in which all the complications and entanglements that have [illegible] Johnson's Administration have been brought about Johnson laid down an "exclusive and inflexible plan." Professing at first that his measures were only temporary and experimental, he soon declared them unchangeable and final

Other evidence might be quoted definitely to show how widely the policy of the late President differed from the usurping policy of Andrew Johnson. Lincoln had sufficient breadth of view to comprehend that the situation was a most difficult one, requiring the combined wisdom and perfect co-operation of the several departments of the Government, Johnson, with his narrow views, bigotry, egotism, willfulness and obstinacy, supposed that he alone had wisdom and power adequate to all the demands of the great occasion. It is worse than idle to say that Johnson is doing just what Lincoln would have done The messages of the two men are as wide apart as their personal characters.

The Democratic party is sorely tried to find a candidate for the Presidency. The Gettysburg (Penn.) Star and Sentinel says, previous to the late election in Pennsylvania the Democracy of the State approached General Meade to obtain his views respecting the nomination. It says that the politicians presented the case very plausibly and urged the General to become their candidate. He replied substantially that there were three difficulties in the way First—He preferred his present position—a Major General in the regular army. Second—He had no taste for the duties of the Presidency. Third—He called himself a Republican, and intended voting the Republican ticket at the October election

SEVERAL GENTLEMEN ELECTED to the Legislature of Washington Territory left this morning for Olympia in good spirits and very sanguine to carry their different points [illegible] that have bought their nice and well fitting suits of KOHN & FISHEL will certainly make a good [illegible], and will convince our Washington Territory friends that the only and best place to buy Clothing as well as Dry Goods is at KOHN & FISHEL'S, No 91 Front street.

RICH ROCK FROM WARREN'S DIGGINGS—Mr Frank Hart [illegible] from Lewiston to Warren's Diggings has left with us a specimen of very rich rock taken from the Wi[illegible] Scott ledge which is considered to be the second best ledge in the Warren's district. The rock is a dark rose[illegible] quartz presenting slight indications of decomposition of parts, and is studded with fine round and coarse thread gold. The specimen we have if anything like a fair average one, indicates beyond mistake that the mine is im[illegible]ly rich. Mr Hart says, the Leland mill of five stamps is being rapidly put up and is expected to be in operation on the first day of January next. Another mill of five stamps, is also being set up, but it is thought there will not be water enough to run it, before spring on account of the freezing weather of the winter season. The miners and others had subscribed enough for still another mill to be started early in the spring to be used exclusively for the purpose of prospecting new ledges. A new discovery of placer diggings between Warren's and [illegible], about fifty miles from the former place had created considerable excitement. They were found by the county [illegible] while going to Lemhi. Report says they are as rich as Warren's Diggings, but they were discovered too late in the season for thorough and extensive [illegible]. As soon as spring opens great numbers will go out and give them thorough tests. All are full of hopes regarding the future prospects of Northern Idaho.

OREGON CITY ITEMS—We clip the subjoined items from the Enterprise of the 30th ult. The [illegible] can no longer be any doubt about the [illegible] of the Oregon City water works. On Thursday last, with an inch and a half nozzle, as pretty a stream as ever was thrown came from the hydrant in front of our office, passing over the adjoining buildings—the highest in town, with perfect ease. A stream was thrown over the Woolen Factory from a hydrant in that locality. Four to six hydrants were open at one time. On Monday morning last a middle aged gentleman name unknown, died on board the steamer Fannie Patton, soon after leaving this city. Deceased had taken passage at Portland, for Albany. After to[illegible], until further notice, a [illegible] will ply between this city and Portland. Soon the P T Co. will put on a morning and evening boat, every day in the week. From the 15th of May to the 15th of November, the following count of stock passing Revenue on the Cascade Road Company's route, was kept by Mr. Egbert Olcott: [illegible] cattle 4,085 head; sheep 15,805 head, saddle horses, 784, pack and loose horses, 550; wagons, 225 drawn by 61 yoke of cattle, and 261 span of horses and mules. Besides the above there were 5 600 head of calves and lambs. About 100 of the wagons were immigrants with an average of five persons to each.

CANYON CITY NEWS.—A correspondent at Canyon City sends us under date Nov 25th, the following items. The John Days quartz mill lately made a run their first, on [illegible] rock from the National lode which cleaned up $20 per ton. This is the first the mill has made and it has created a good deal of excitement among quartz men. Several companies are getting out large quantities of rock and we expect good results. The Prairie Mining Co. have struck good paying quartz in their tunnel, about six hundred feet on the I X L lode. This is supposed to be one of the best ledges in the country. The [illegible] are making preparations to build a ten stamp mill next spring. The weather is fine, clear and warm and farmers are putting in large crops. Placer miners are doing as well as at any time this [illegible], but there are not so many of them at work. P S—A company of men [illegible] Mr. Connell have just returned from a prospecting trip on the head of Crooked river. They found good quartz. They think the region prospected is one of the best camps of [illegible] Oregon. They [illegible] two paying [illegible].

[illegible]—The dispatches from Victoria indicate that the [illegible] are getting very [illegible] excited [illegible] the withdrawal of the steamship California from the trade between Victoria and San Francisco, and talk of [illegible] the seventy-nine British [illegible] Isabel. They [illegible] to ship freight by no other line, [illegible] the fact that on a late trip of the California, no freight at all was shipped, [illegible] while she was the only vessel running; [illegible] in at Portland and took every pound she [illegible]. The limited quantity of freight received at, and sent from, Victoria, was no doubt the cause of the [illegible] of the California. We [illegible] to the "Naval [illegible]" that they are [illegible] ex[illegible] the [illegible] $750 per trip they could [illegible] the little Eagle now plying on the W[illegible] [illegible] and she could carry about all the [illegible] Victoria [illegible] to have to send away.

A [illegible]—We publish this morning the pas[illegible] list as brought by the Montana. The telegraph [illegible] at San F[illegible] sent it up Saturday evening, but as we [illegible] no paper on Sunday, we could not get it out as [illegible] after the arrival of the steamer. We [illegible] the [illegible] copy, as being [illegible] fuller and more correct [illegible]. The [illegible] last [illegible] they and we ought to have had the [illegible] list the same [illegible], or at the [illegible] on Thursday. Instead of that, it did not come till Saturday night. As [illegible] the matter, the operator at San Francisco [illegible] for the delay. He gets the list and sends it if it suits his convenience, if not [illegible] at the [illegible] time he waits. He knows how to wait [illegible]. If we had a mule which we wished to run a "slow race," we'd hire him to ride, he would [illegible] all the rest of the competing [illegible] had got thin and died of old age.

[illegible] ITEMS.—The Register of Saturday has the [illegible] Mr. J. F. Vest, of Lewis river in this county, [illegible] in this place, in the dark of the [illegible] on Tuesday last, fell from the sidewalk near the [illegible] of Main and First st., [illegible] receiving very con[illegible] imports cedar [illegible] from [illegible] of this city the best for [illegible] in the world are left [illegible]. Where is the [illegible] man who will supply this market with [illegible]. The net [illegible] of the [illegible] Ball will [illegible] $75, which will be applied to defray the [illegible] of their new [illegible] house. The affair [illegible] great or all [illegible] and Oro Fino Hall was [illegible] the [illegible] of each [illegible] enjoy[illegible].

[illegible] RAILROAD.—The San Francisco Bulletin, in an article on the projected railroad routes in [illegible] the State of Oregon is interested, says that powerful [illegible] are working in favor of the road from Portland via [illegible] city and thence southeastward to [illegible] with the Central Pacific road at the junction of the Humboldt and Little Humboldt rivers, in Nevada. It says the Central Pacific R. R. Co. favors the sch[illegible] and has [illegible] a map showing the divergence from their road, and the general line of the Oregon branch. What the [illegible] influence [illegible] are, of which the Bulletin [illegible], we are left to infer; but from the general tone of the article, we [illegible] that they are altogether [illegible] of Oregon.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ELECTION—Up to yesterday morning, Mr Wm. H Wetsell was the only candidate publicly [illegible] for Assistant Engineer. This morning, however, there [illegible] to be no lack of candidates, M[illegible] of No 2, and F M Arnold, of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company, having entered the field. There are two to be elected. Before the polls are open, there may be others announced. Mr W. H Weed thus far has no [illegible] for Chief Engineer. The election will be [illegible] the [illegible] House of Willamette Company No. 1. W I Leonard, of Multnomah Company No. 2, J W Sutton, of Protection Company No. 4 and Thos. M Tom[illegible], of [illegible] Hook and [illegible] Company, are the [illegible] of the [illegible].

DEATH ON BOARD A STEAMER—We copy an item from the [illegible] stating that last week a man died on board one of the [illegible] between Oregon City and Albany. In addition to this, we learn through Messrs Lyons, [illegible] & Co., of the What Cheer Hotel, that the man came to that [illegible] on the evening of the 23d and took lodgings, [illegible] himself as "G D Smith, Clark's Creek." He left on the morning of the 25th, being so weak as to require assistance to walk from the carriage to the [illegible]. Messrs Beach & Monteith, of Albany, write that he died before reaching Albany, and that there being no one who knew him, the Sheriff of Linn county, took [illegible] of and buried the corpse.

[illegible] SHATTUCK, JUDGE—Proceedings of Saturday, [illegible] 30th:

Annie M. Richards vs John McCraken et al suit for partition of lots No. 1 and 2 in block 4, in the city of Portland, [illegible] ordering the sale of the property by the [illegible].

J B. Mayer [illegible] vs. Leon Vial, garnishee, impleaded with P Duvaucy; motion for a new trial overruled exception taken and time granted till December 9th to file bill of exceptions.

The court then adjourned till Monday December 9th.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE TIME.—The Oregon and California Stage Co. yesterday began to change off from their short [illegible] time to the long one of eleven days between [illegible] and Portland. Mr Corbett, the Superintendent, [illegible] that the company expects to get the mails [illegible] in eight and a half days, notwithstanding by the terms of their contract, they are not required to do so. By the new arrangement, the mails will arrive from [illegible] City by steamer in the afternoon.

THE FALKINBURG—The bark Falkinburg, Jas. H Gregg, Master, arrived Saturday night in tow by the steamer J H O[illegible]. She brings about 390 tons merchandise for Portland. She sailed from San Francisco on the 13th of November arrived off the Columbia bar on the 23d stood off and on in consequence of fog and unfavorable winds, till Thursday the 28th, when she [illegible] the bar and arrived at Astoria.

P[illegible]—Mr A De Cosmos of Victoria, called on us last evening having just arrived by the Montana. He has been for some time absent, in England. If we are not [illegible], and is now en route home. Mr De Cosmos was the founder of the British Colonist in 1858 and conducted that journal for five years.

WILLAMETTE PRODUCE—On Saturday the Alert brought down from Oregon City 1 675 boxes apples, 500 sacks of flour 8 half barrels produce, 121 sacks feed 60 empty half barrels 1 bale and [illegible] boxes merchandise, 1 sack Yaquina Bay oysters, 2 boxes eggs.

POSTMASTER AT MILWAUKIE—The Enterprise says "Mr E. Ross has been appointed Postmaster at Milwaukie. Mr Ross is a very accommodating gentleman and his appointment must give general satisfaction."

MONTHLY MEETING—The regular monthly meeting of the Pioneer Club will take place this evening. A full attendance is requested, as there will be business of importance [illegible].

Berman's new Fall and Winter styles of Clothing have just arrived by the Montana and will be opened to-day. All who have been waiting for the latest and best styles can get them by calling at Berman's corner of Front and Mo[illegible].

FROM MR. PITTOCK—I have used some of Henley's Royal Balsam in my family and think it is splendid medicine for children as well as for grown people. For coughs and colds I freely recommend it to the public.

E. PITTOCK.

STATE ITEMS

A Soap creek potato weighs four pounds and a quarter. The Dalles potato is three pounds heavier. Soap creek must give it up.

The Mountaineer says that a soldier was accidentally shot at Camp Watson a few days ago while hauling a loaded gun. It is thought that the wound is fatal.

The Herald wants to know what a conductor of elections is? He is a dignitary who conducts unreconstructed rebels to a back seat when an election is progressing.

The Sentinel says that on Saturday last Dr Greenman examined a stepson of Mr Swinflius in presence of his [illegible], Judge Duncan, and pronounced him insane. An order for a conveyance to the asylum at Portland, was issued by the Judge and Sheriff Owen started with him on Monday.

Of trade at the Dalles the Mountaineer says: During the last week nothing of interest has transpired in business circles. Retailers are doing a very good business owing to the fact that our town has lately received a large acquisition to its population. Freights to Canyon City are unchanged as the roads are still in good condition. Business of all kinds appears to be in a flourishing condition.

A letter from Eugene City, Nov 26th, gives the following: About three o'clock this morning our sleeping people were awakened by the ringing of bells and the cry of fire. It proved to be Mark Stevens' store on fire, which was easily extinguished though the flames had made considerable headway. The contents of the store were not materially injured. It was no doubt the work of an incendiary as cloths saturated with turpentine were found under the building. A little longer and nothing could have saved that side of the town. It is hoped that a clue to the incendiary exists by a mark on a handkerchief found among the rags.

The Corvallis Gazette says: The well of ex Mayor Pilbean of this city has recently attracted some attention from neighbors and visitors by the issuing there from, for four or five successive days and nights, a continuous sound like steam escaping from machinery, sufficiently loud to be heard across the street, occasional bubbles during the time, would rise to the surface of the water. The well was recently dug and is unwalled.

A friend who has lately visited Aurora feels himself quite encouraged after witnessing the success of the colony there. Like all German settlers they have been industrious, thrifty and honest and having paid strict attention to their own business, and laboriously improved their location with their own hands they have thriven amazingly. They have proven of great benefit in increasing the wealth of Oregon and in giving the State the advantages of their citizenship.

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and IMPROVED ROSE WASH cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages at little expense little or no change in diet no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action and free from all injurious properties.

DR. G. W. COOL

Has Returned to Portland, and can be found at his residence on

Third St., bet. Alder and Washington.

Those who desire FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES, might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE; the nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One-half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has made application to the United States Patent Office for a patent. He has been making this style of work for the last two-and-a-half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his residence and office on Third street. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

Price for upper teeth, $50; full set [illegible] and lower, $70 00. oc31tf

ENFEEBLED AND DELICATE CONSTITUTIONS of both sexes use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU. It will give brisk and energetic feelings and enable you to sleep well.

THE PEOPLE have been so much imposed upon, by several worthless Sarsaparillas that we are glad to be able to recommend a preparation which can be depended on as containing the virtues of that invaluable medicine and is worthy of the public confidence. DOCT. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures when anything can cure the diseases that require an alterative medicine.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT BUCHU

Is the Great Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Is the Great Blood Purifier.

Both are prepared according to rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry, and are the most active that can be made.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE REMOVED TO THE Southwest corner of Front and Yamhill Streets opposite E J Northrup & Co's Hardware Store.

Extracting Teeth by Dr Richardson's apparatus with Ether Spray is local in its application; the tooth and surrounding parts only becoming insensible to pain. The suffering from bad teeth can now have them removed free from pain and without the effects of inhaling chloroform, ether or nitrous oxyde (laughing gas.)

N B.—To strangers I would say that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a certain cure for diseases of the

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the

URINARY ORGANS,

whether existing in

MALE OR FEMALE,

from whatever cause originating and no matter of

HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. If no treatment is submitted to Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS,

and that of Posterity depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS.

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer, but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally while others use it internally with great success but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in those far off places by its merits.

FOR NON RETENTION or INCONTINENCE of Urine, Irritation, Inflammation, or ulceration of the bladder or kidneys, diseases of the prostrate glands, stone in the bladder, calculus, gravel or brick dust deposits and all diseases of the bladder, kidneys and dropsical swellings, Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fe[illegible]. Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil [illegible] of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels. Steadies the Nerves and tends to Pr[illegible] Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Ne[illegible] [illegible], General Debility, N[illegible], Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness [illegible] in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak [illegible] is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic and hence it works [illegible] in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the [illegible] and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic HOSTETTER'S BITTERS [illegible] effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all [illegible] it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant [illegible] manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

Mark Twain in the Orient.

HE EXPOSES THE POLITICAL HUMBUGGERY OF THE TURKISH BATH.

[Correspondence New York Tribune]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug 31, 1867.

When I think how I have been swindled by books of Oriental travel, I want a tourist for breakfast For years and years I have dreamed of the wonders of the Turkish bath, for years and years I have promised myself that I would yet enjoy one. Many and many a time, in fancy, I have lain in the marble bath, and breathed the slumbrous fragrance of Eastern spices that filled the air, then passed through a weird and complicated system of pulling and hauling and drenching and scrubbing by a gang of naked savages who loomed vast and vaguely through the steaming mists like demons, then rested for a while on a divan fit for a king, then passed through another complex ordeal, and one more fearful than the first, and finally, swathed in soft fabrics, was conveyed to a princely saloon and laid on a bed of eider down, where eunuchs, gorgeous of costume, fanned me while I drowsed and dreamed, or contentedly gazed at the rich hangings of the apartment, the soft carpets, the sumptuous furniture, the pictures, and drank delicious coffee, smoked the strongest narghili, and dropped, at last, into tranquil repose, by the gentle influence of the narghili's Persian tobacco, and by the music of fountains that counterfeited the pattering of summer rain.

That was the picture, just as I got it from incendiary books of travel It was a poor, miserable fraud. The reality is no more like it than the Five Points are like the Garden of Eden. They received me in a great court, paved with marble slabs; around it were broad galleries, one above another, carpeted with seedy matting, railed with unpainted balustrades, and furnished with huge, rickety chairs, cushioned with rusty old mattresses, indented with impressions left by the forms of nine successive generations of men who had reposed upon them. The place was vast, naked, dreary; its court a barn, its galleries stalls for human horses. The cadaverous, half-nude varlets that served in the establishment had nothing of poetry in their appearance, nothing of oriental splendor. They shed no entrancing odors—just the contrary. Their hungry eyes and lank forms continually suggested one glaring, unsentimental fact—they wanted a "square meal."

I went up into one of the racks and undressed. An unclean starveling wrapped a gaudy tablecloth about my loins, and hung a white rag over my shoulders. If I had had a tub then, it would have come natural to me to take in washing. I was then conducted down stairs into the wet, slippery court, and the first thing that attracted my attention was my heels. My fall excited no comment. They expected it, no doubt. It belonged in the list of softening, sensuous influences peculiar to this home of Eastern luxury. It was softening enough, certainly, but its application was not happy. They now gave me a pair of wooden clogs—benches in miniature, with leather straps over them to confine my feet (which they would have done, only I do not wear No. 13s). These things dangled uncomfortably by the straps when I lifted up my feet, and came down in awkward and unexpected places when I put them on the floor again, and sometimes turned sideways and wrenched my ankles out of joint. However, it was all Oriental luxury, and I did what I could to enjoy it.

They put me in another part of the barn and laid me on a stuffy sort of pallet, which was not made of cloth of gold, or Persian shawls, but was merely the unpretending sort of thing I have seen in the negro quarters of Arkansas. There was nothing whatever in this dim marble prison but five more of these biers. It was a very solemn place. I expected that the spiced odors of Arabia were going to steal over my senses now, but they didn't. A copper-colored skeleton, with a rag around him, brought me a glass decanter of water, with a lighted tobacco pipe in the top of it, and a pliant stem a yard long, with a brass mouth-piece to it.

It was the famous "narghili" of the East—the thing the Grand Turk smokes in the pictures. This began to look like luxury. I took one blast at it and it was sufficient. The smoke all went down my throat It came back in convulsive snorts through my nose. It had a vile taste, and the taste of a thousand infidel tongues that remained on the brass mouth-piece was viler still. I was getting discouraged. Whenever, hereafter, I see the Grand Turk smoking his narghili, in pretended bliss, on the outside of a paper of Connecticut tobacco, I shall know him for the shameless humbug that he is.

The prison was filled with hot air. When I had got warmed up sufficiently to prepare me for a still warmer temperature, they took me where it was—into a marble room, wet, slippery and steamy, and laid me out on a raised platform in the center. It was very warm. Presently my man sat me down by a tank of hot water, drenched me well, gloved his hand with a coarse mitten, and began to polish me all over with it. I began to smell disagreeably. The more he polished, the worse I smelt. It was alarming. I said to him: "I perceive that I am pretty far gone. It is plain that I ought to be buried without any unnecessary delay. Perhaps you had better go after my friends at once, because the weather is warm, and I cannot 'keep' long." He went on scrubbing, and paid no attention. I soon saw that he was reducing my size. He bore hard on his mitten, and from under it rolled little cylinders like maccaroni. It could not be dirt, for it was too white. He pared me down in this way for a long time. Finally I said, "It is a tedious process; it will take hours to trim me to the size you want me. I will wait; go and borrow a jack-plane." He paid no attention at all.

After a while he brought a basin, some soap, and something that seemed to be the tail of a horse. He made up a prodigious quantity of soap suds, deluged me with them from head to foot without warning me to shut my eyes, and then swabbed me viciously with the horse tail. Then he left me there, a statue of snowy lather, and went away. When I got tired of waiting I went and hunted him up. He was propped against the wall in another room, asleep. I woke him. He was not disconcerted. He took me back and flooded me with scalding hot water, then turbaned my head, swathed me with dry tablecloths, and conducted me to a latticed chicken-coop in one of the galleries, and pointed to one of those Arkansas beds. I mounted it, and vaguely expected the odors of Araby again. They did not come.

The blank, unornamented coop had nothing about it of that oriental voluptuousness one reads of so much. It was more suggestive of the country hospital than anything else. The skinny servitor brought a narghili, and I got him to take it out again without wasting any time about it. Then he brought the world renowned Turkish coffee that poets have sung so rapturously for many generations, and I seized upon it as the last hope that was left of my old dreams of Eastern luxury. It was another swindle. Of all the unchristian beverages that ever passed my lips, Turkish coffee is the worst. The cup is small, it is smeared with grounds; the coffee is black, thick, unsavory of smell, and execrable in taste.

The bottom of the cup has a muddy sediment in it half an inch deep. This goes down your throat, and portions lodge by the way, and produce a tickling aggravation that keeps you barking and coughing for an hour.

Here endeth my experience of the celebrated Turkish bath, and here also endeth my dream of the bliss the mortal revels in who passes through it. It is a malignant swindle. The man who enjoys it is qualified to enjoy anything that is repulsive to sight or sense, and he that can invest it with the charm of poetry is able to do the same with anything else in the world that is tedious, and wretched, and dismal, and nasty.

COURTSHIP AND LOVE.—In the play "Under the Gaslight," the heroine gives utterance to the following:

Courtship is the text from which the whole solemn sermon of married life takes its theme. As lovers are discontented and unhappy so will they be as wives and husbands. So as you would be happy all the years of your life, listen to the voice advising you: Let the woman you look upon be wise or vain, beautiful or homely, rich or poor, she has but one thing which she can readily give or refuse—her heart! Her beauty, her wit, her accomplishments, she may sell to you—but her love is the treasure without money and without price. She only asks in return that when you look upon her your eyes shall speak a mute devotion, that when you address her your voice shall be gentle, loving and kind. That you shall not despise her because she cannot understand all at once your vigorous thoughts and ambitious designs—for when misfortune and evil have defeated your greatest purposes, her love remains to console you. You look to the trees for strength and grandeur—do not despise the flowers because their fragrance is all they have to give—but is the only earthly thing that God permits us to carry beyond the grave.

POPULATION AND BUSINESS OF JACKSONVILLE.—The Sentinel says that "if Jacksonville is not the prettiest town on the Pacific coast, it is unquestionably the liveliest between Marysville and Portland." It has a population of from six to eight hundred. There are six stores or general merchandising establishments, which will average a business of $60,000 each per annum; three retail groceries and fancy goods; one hardware and tin manufacturing establishment: two jewelers, two meat markets, three livery stables, one drug store; seven saloons; three blacksmith shops; one banking house; two printing offices, and other business on a corresponding scale of activity.

Another National Democratic Convention.

[From the New York Tribune Oct 31]

The World, apparently speaking in the interest of our city hotels and restaurants, proposes that a convention be held of those Democrats who suffered from arbitrary arrests during the Lincoln reign. Such a convention could only be lodged and fed in New York city, and it would tax our resources to the utmost There were arrested without warrant or any lawful process whatever, other than the arbitrary orders of the Secretary of War, at Fort Donelson, 15,000, at Vicksburg, 35,000, at Chattanooga, 25,000, at Appomattox and the other closing arrests, say 150,000, beside an aggregate on other miscellaneous occasions of about 200,000—making in all at least 400,000 Democrats arbitrarily arrested without warrant or process during the "Lincoln reign" This would amount, according to the most carefully prepared tables of logarithms, to six in a bed, exclusive of any other vermin, for every Democratic couch in the State of New York, including those at Sing Sing and Auburn. The thing is too big. It can't be done If the intention is to convene only those who were arrested in Northern States, the question arises, were Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, and Missouri Northern States? If so, the artrary arrest made at Gettysburg and Antietam, in Morgan's raid, and in the Missouri battles, must be included. Or is it intended to exclude all who fought in rebel uniform, and admit only the St. Albans raiders, the burners of the N Y. Asylum, the agents employed by Blackburn to introduce yellow fever into New York, the conspirators to resist the draft in Ohio and Indiana, to unloose the prisoners at Camp Douglas, Chicago, and to assassinate President Lincoln and his Cabinet? If these are the parties to be summoned, it becomes an important question whether the meeting had not better be deferred awhile. It would be a great discourtesy to hold such a convention unless it could be presided over by J. Wilkes Booth as Chairman, with the assistance of Paine, Atzerodt, Surratt, Blackburn, and others equally distinguished, as Vice Presidents. So many of these have reached their final destination, and the rest are so plainly on the way, that it would save a heavy expense in lights and fuel to wait till they have all got there. We have no desire to be present at the convention, or to send any of our reporters. But we venture to predict that, for the first time in the history of Democratic conventions, cold water will be in lively demand and the supply limited.

SITKA AND ITS SURROUNDINGS.—The correspondent of the Alta, writing from Sitka, Oct. 17th, says:

At this high latitude one readily notices the prolongation of twilight. Thursday morning dawned without a cloud, and gave early promise of one of those autumnal days, so very rare in Sitka, when "not a mist disturbs the sky." I was up at four to witness the coming twilight. First appeared the faint gray haze then the dull streak, then the bright flush and lining, till at length the full disc of the orb which brings life and light arose above the sharp crest of the mountain. It was now, however, more than two hours since the beginning of the dawn. Meanwhile, the John L. Stephens ran up the narrow harbor near the wharf, and anchored amid the vessels, of which there were ten in port, viz: the steamship Resaca, Capt. Bradford; the Jamestown, Capt. McDougall; the revenue cutter Lincoln, Captain White; the merchant ship Buena Vista, from San Francisco; the Hamoluke, from the Sandwich Islands, with two steamships and three sailing vessels belonging to the Russian American Company.

We were now able to examine our surroundings. The harbor is narrow, lying between the island of Yapouski and the curving shore of the mainland It is hardly a hundred rods wide, but has an ample depth. The town has convenient, but not extensive wharfing. The beach is mostly covered with small boulders of green-stone, trap and hard clay slate. The appearance of the town itself is not very inviting. On the right are the warehouses of the Russian American Company, the Governor's residence, the churches, and the houses of the Russian population. On the left is the Indian town, consisting of some sixty square block cabins, a part of them reaching in single file along down the beach. They are built of hewn logs, with roofs of cedar bark, and betray in their structure a blending of savage and civilized taste the former greatly predominating. They have no windows, but a wide opening in the center of the roof answers the twofold purpose of admitting the light and affording an egress for the smoke of the fire, which is built in the center of the cabin.

The Island—Baranoff—on which Sitka is built, takes its name from a former Governor, and is eighty-four miles long, with an average width of twenty miles. It has no white inhabitants, except the residents of this town, who, with the Creoles number 886. The Indians are of the Koluska tribe, and are said to number 1,128. The present town of Sitka was settled in 1804, and owes its origin to the sea otter—the most valuable fur-bearing animal the northern seas. At that time it was found in large numbers about this and the adjacent islands, and the high value of its skin led to the transfer of the headquarters of the Russian-American Co. from Kodiac to this port.

A young wife, within a few months after her marriage, was horrified on going to the door to let her husband in, to find him intoxicated—so much so that he could hardly stand. A thunder-stroke in a clear winter's sky could not have more surprised her; friends were in the drawing room, expecting him every moment; with a woman's quickness and instinct, she hurried him to his chamber, with loving words put him to sleep, made some excuse for the mutual benefit of friends and servants, watched over him through the weary hours of night, and the next morning when he waked, she had no harsh reproof ready for him, no withering rebuke, but tenderly alluded to the facts of the case and kissed away his confusion; there it dropped; he never tasted another drop; raised a family of sons who are respectable and successful merchants in New York and Philadelphia, and dying left a name for mercantile integrity which any man might envy.

The Iowa Voter tells the following good religious anecdote: "At a prayer meeting recently, some fourteen miles from Pella, in this country, a Brother Hoskins in his prayer petitioned the Lord to 'Bless Brother N.'—the pastor—'and make him a better man.' 'Amen! and Brother Hoskins, too,' responded the pastor with unction."

THE ROYAL BALSAM!

HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC FOR A length of time, and wherever used is highly recommended, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction, but, on the contrary, all are delighted with it and speak in the highest terms of its magical effects The astonishing efficacy of the ROYAL BALSAM, in curing the diseases for which it is recommended entitles it to the highest rank among the list of medicines, and no family can be without it after once trying it.

☞ Read the following testimonials from some of the most prominent citizens of Oregon

MIRACULOUS CURE.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir: I feel it but a duty to inform you and the public what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my wife. She had been affected with a severe cough for several weeks, which had assumed a dangerous feature, for which many physicians have been trying without any material benefit, and all the remedies failed to give her any relief. Without relief was got I feared for the worst, in her present condition. The cough appeared to be worse at night, she could get no rest—when Mr Randall, of this place, advised me to try your Royal Balsam; all other remedies having failed, I concluded to try it, and I purchased two bottles Strange to say, by the time I gave her three spoonfuls of the Balsam she got relief, and slept, a thing she had not done for three nights previous By the time she had taken one bottle the cough was checked. Its effect was truly miraculous, as the cure was effectual hence, I have no hesitation in recommending the Royal Balsam to all who are afflicted, and it appears astonishing to me that medicine of such great merit, and I might say magical effect, is not more in use. My candid opinion is, if persons use it once, they never be without it in the house.

Vancouver, March 1, 1867. D. COCHRAN.

From Wm. Doty.

North Yamhill, July 15, 1867.

DEAR DR HENLEY—It is with sincere gratitude I undertake to write to you, what your Royal Balsam has done for me. For the last 12 years I have been afflicted with a severe cough and what also some of the physicians called the Bronchitis, and have spent a fortune to get cured, trying all the physicians and remedies I could get to no purpose, Through the influence of my neighbors (for you have a great name with them here,) I got a bottle of your Royal Balsam and finding that it relieved me considerable I sent for a half dozen more. And now after one month using it I am perfectly cured. I gained ten pounds within a month and feel quite a different man. I send you this for publication for the benefit of humanity, that through my experience others in affliction may be relieved as I have been Yours truly.

WILLIAM DOTY.

From Sophia M. Holman.

DEAR DR HENLEY—It is my duty to inform you and the public, what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my children. Two of them had a very bad cough and cold, I got a bottle of the Royal Balsam, and gave them some at bedtime and some in the morning, and that was all that was needed to cure them I was astonished at not hearing them cough again, but so it was. I find if you give it in larger doses it will make the children throw up in an instant, and I think every mother ought to have a bottle of your Royal Balsam in the house, in case a child should get the croup for which it is a sure remedy, as it acts like magic on children. What I have seen and heard from my neighbors about the Royal Balsam I would sooner depend on it than on any prescription from any physician. I have lost two children within the last year of the same disease, had I had at the time some of the Royal Balsam I am confident my dear ones would be alive now I shall always recommend it to all my friends, for I consider it a blessing and Godsend to mankind

Yours truly, SOPHIA M. HOLMAN

From Drs. Bell & Parker.

We have sold a great deal of Medicine since we have been in business, and now have fifteen different kinds of Expectorants for sale But Dr Henley's Royal Balsam takes the palm from all. In fact, we sell six bottles of Royal Balsam to one of any other kind—and really it seems of no use to keep any other. During our experience we have never seen any medicine that gives the satisfaction the Royal Balsam does, as is proven by the results daily coming in from the country of old Chronic cases, when nothing else would remove the dreadful cough they had I find it is good for Bronchitis and Asthma. We acknowledge it is a pleasure to sell medicine that gives such universal satisfaction

BELL & PARKER,
Druggists, Oregon City

From W. F. Barber.

DR HENLEY—Dear Sir I had the Asthma for the last four years, so bad that it came near choking me. I tried all the patent medicines recommended for the cure of Asthma without doing me the least good, till I was told to try some of your Royal Balsam, which on several afflicted with the same disease, has performed wonders I am using it now for a week and strange to say I have not experienced anything since, and I really believe that I am perfectly cured, anyhow I shall never be without a bottle of the Royal Balsam in the house in case of a similar attack, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all afflicted with the same disease

I am Yours truly.
W F BARBER.

From J. H. Morril.

DEAR DR HENLEY—I think it but justice to you that these few lines should be made known to the public for there is so much humbug going on in patent medicines and quack nostrums now a days that I had lost all faith in everything in the shape of medicine I was afflicted with what is called Bronchitis for the last thirty years, I coughed and wheezed for an hour at a time, I tried some of the best physicians in the Atlantic States and on this coast all to no purpose I could get no relief, and I really thought there was no relief for me in the world I was induced to try a bottle of your Royal Balsam and it had a most remarkable effect on me and before I had used up four bottles the cough left me and I can talk as loud as anybody, my wife and neighbors don't know what to make of it My opinion is that if they knew the value of the Royal Balsam there is not a family in the country that would be without it I think there is not a better medicine in existence for Bronchitis or cough than the Royal Balsam, and I conscientiously recommend to all so afflicted to give it a fair trial

I remain yours, truly,
